AMERICANS AND FOREIGNERS LEAVE CHINA TO ESCAPE MOBS

RED CROSS SUNDAY BEING OBSERVED BY CHURCHES

WAR MAD CHINA IS WATCHED BY ENTIRE WORLD

Shanghai is "Tinder Box" Which May Set Entire World Afire

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Spurred by reports that rioting has broken out in Shanghai, the chief port of refuge for foreigners, the state department today rushed preparations for a hurried evacuation of all Americans in war mad China.

Shanghai, it was admitted, is the tinder-box from which a "spark" at any time may set off the most serious anti-foreign uprising since the Boxer Rebellion. Thousands of Americans and other foreigners are now hurrying from the interior of China to Shanghai to escape the fury of native mobs.

Their safety, it was admitted, depends largely on the ability of American naval forces to get them aboard ships before the outbreaks spread.

A report that a disturbance in Shanghai caused by a strike of street car workers was quelled without loss of life brought relief to officials here and led to the hope that the calmness displayed by Americans and other foreigners under great pressure may avert a crisis for a few days more.

Meanwhile, American naval ships are being sent to Shanghai with all possible speed. A detachment of 400 marines is also being rushed to Chinese waters from Guam, and arms and ammunition are being sent from the Philippines.

Protection of the foreign colony at Shanghai by the small detachment of American and other foreign military forces there would be an almost hopeless task in the event of a massed attack by Chinese, it was admitted.

ENGLAND TAKES HAND
LONDON, Jan. 22.—The war office today took a hand in the Chinese situation.

Troops were ordered to stand by, in readiness to proceed to China. All ranks on leave were recalled.

One thousand marines leave Portsmouth on Tuesday on a troopship for China. Four battalions of troops were put under orders to go to China from England.

The first battalion of the Middlesex regiment, with the "Camarados" were today instructed to be ready. Leaves were cancelled.

The war office announced officially that the battalions would be brought up to colonial establishment by the inclusion of certain men from Section A, army reserve corps. These men, it was said, will accept the liability of a return to the colors in circumstances which do not render general mobilization necessary.

Traffic Officer Hurt In Crash
Painfully injured when his motorcycle crashed with a laundry delivery wagon Friday, Harry Boyer of Antioch, attached to the Contra Costa county traffic squad, will be off duty for several weeks.

The accident occurred in Pittsburg. Boyer collided with a laundry wagon driven by Louis Boyton, and was thrown to the pavement with considerable impact. No bones were broken, but the muscles in his shoulder, knee and neck were severely wrenched, and he was badly bruised.

The county patrol squad is thus reduced to three men, E. P. Keefe, Charles Nissen and Forrest Lea. Both Captain George A. Belon and R. R. Cheek, of Richmond, are incapacitated for active service.

Five Children And 2 Women Are Killed As Boiler Explodes

Firemen Unable to Find Bodies in Wreck of Building

(By Universal Service)
TOLEDO, Ohio, Jan. 22.—Five children and two women were killed, and a man and woman were seriously injured when the steam boiler of a cleaning establishment here exploded this afternoon, demolishing a two-story building.

Firemen were busy trying to extricate the bodies, but succeeded in getting only one, that of a child.

The two seriously injured were Fred Clark and Mrs. Blanche Jennings, who were blown into the street from the shop, so badly injured that hospital attaches expressed doubts as to their recovery.

Those known to have been in the apartment over the cleaning shop, were John Tucker, 6, Mrs. Fred Kleis, her two children, Mrs. Ray Conrad, Thomas Hunter, 10, and an unidentified child.

The bodies are believed to have been badly torn as to make identification almost impossible, police said.

That some one had entered his home during his short absence last night and stole $200 was the report given to the El Cerrito police department last night by Charles Sandretto who lives on San Pablo avenue at Lennox avenue.

Sandretto reported that he left his house to visit a neighbor and when he returned a short time later he found that his house had been entered and ransacked.

Constable George Conlon is working on the case.

DEATH VERDICT OF JURY IS SET ASIDE BY JUDGE

Judge Establishes New Precedent; Both Sides Appeal

(By Universal Service)
OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 22.—For the first time in California criminal law history, a judge today overturned a murder verdict. Holding that the evidence did not warrant conviction of murder in the first degree, Superior Judge Fred B. Wood today overturned the jury's findings in the case of Jesus Prudencio, father of eight children, and fixed the decree as second degree.

Both the state and the defense appealed this action, the state holding out for the death penalty and the defense for acquittal or manslaughter.

Judge Wood acted under a federal statute which requires judges to overrule a jury if their verdict is not in accordance with the evidence. It has never been done before in California and but few times elsewhere in the United States.

Prudencio was tried for the killing of Antonio Garcia who was shot to death last September in what was alleged to have been a quarrel over wine. In a dying statement, however, Garcia named Prudencio as having attempted to hold him up. Prudencio testified Garcia had drawn a knife on him in the process of the quarrel.

YOUNG FAILURE AS MOVIE STAR

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—George Young, 17-year-old conqueror of the Catalina channel, is admitted by one of the world's greatest swimmers, but as a potential motion picture star—well?

That was the reaction today of a high official of the Famous Players-Lasky studio, where George had his first screen test yesterday. The official saw the test film run off today and then said: "George would be hopeless in movies. He should tour the country in vaudeville, clean up a fortune and then retire and go to school."

Young is expected to decide in a day or two whether he will go on the stage or into the films, and now it appears that the former will be his choice.

Norris Confident Of His Acquittal

(By Universal Service)
AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 22.—So confident of acquittal is the Rev. J. Frank Norris, accused slayer of D. E. Chipp, that he has planned a mass meeting for his Fort Worth Baptist church. If will be a triumphant homecoming for him, he indicated here today while his trial was nearing a close.

The Rev. Norris, militant fundamentalist, shot and killed Chipp in the pastor's study at Fort Worth, July 17, 1926. The trial has lasted two weeks. It was brought here from Fort Worth on a change of venue, the minister holding he could not expect an impartial hearing in the city where he has crusaded so long in such spectacular style.

McFarland Has Denied Part In Bank Robbery

James E. McFarland, accused of complicity in the holdup of the Mechanics bank in Richmond November 22 last, has denied any participation and intends to fight extradition from Denver, Colorado, where he is being held on a charge of rum running, according to an announcement made by Sheriff R. K. Veale.

McFarland was arrested in Colorado City, January 11. Police authorities identified him as the man wanted in the Richmond robbery through fingerprints sent from both this city and Portland. Undersheriff William Veale left for Denver last night to establish further identification.

McFarland now claims, it is stated, that the large sums of money found on his person, were earned through race track gambling or lottery chances. He is said to have admitted his identity but denied participation in the robbery in Richmond. McFarland was named by Hix Anderson as his companion in the holdup. Anderson is now serving a sentence of five years to life in San Quentin.

He is a member of the Eureka lodge of Elks and the Humboldt post of the American Legion.

Senator C. B. Hamilton, head of the hotel chain leasing the Hotel Carquinez, is in Richmond assisting the new manager in his duties.

Phillips Accepts Lindsey Challenge

(By Universal Service)
OAKLAND, Jan. 22.—Rev. Geo. W. Phillips of Oakland, famous "radio pastor," today announced he is prepared to accept the challenge of Judge Ben B. Lindsey of the Denver juvenile court to a debate on marriage problems.

Asserting that the famous Denver jurist is striking at the very foundations of America in his advocacy of a substitute for ritual marriages, Dr. Phillips declared that he wished to meet Lindsey in order to "settle for once and all" Lindsey's theories on matrimony.

POLICE LAUNCH OFFENSIVE ON LIGHTS, BRAKES

As a part of its program for safety in auto driving, the Richmond police department last night launched an offensive against defective headlights. Officers stationed at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue stopped all those whose tail-lights were out, those whose tail-lights were out, or not burning, and issued a warning.

"There is some excuse for the person who is unconscious that his lights are out or who has gloves to repair his lights," said Chief of Police Dan Cox. "But the real offender is the man who drives on trusting to luck or the other driver's eye to escape accident."

Those whose lights could not be repaired on the spot were cited to appear at the station within five days and show that they had made the repairs suggested.

This is brake testing week in Richmond, and police authorities believe that light testing is an auxiliary to the control of one's machine.

Watch Boy Friend Advises "Peaches"

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Be careful about your "boy friends."

A boy friend is a harmless thing, but they may give rise to misunderstandings.

"Peaches" Heenan Browning has learned her lesson. Edward W. Browning, millionaire real estate magnate and "Cinderella man," declared his 17-year-old bride had "another man." She had been friendly with a rich banker, he charged.

The other half of the collapsed romance today replied: "The millionaire banker my husband refers to as his rival is Joseph Morris, a bank clerk. I knew Joe before I met Mr. Browning. He took me to the dance the night I met Mr. Browning."

"Get this straight, Joe Morris is nothing more than a boy friend to me."

The Brownings will "open" in Carmen, N. Y. Monday—in their famous separation case.

Ritz prices prevail. Even Judge Seeger, who hears the case, has had to pay $21 a day for his room. Bean soup is forty cents a plate and fried eggs a quarter apiece in the quiet little village.

Third Bank in County to Be Purchased by Bank of Italy

The National Bank of Martinez was purchased Friday afternoon by the Bancitaly corporation, the holding organization of the Bank of Italy and Giannini interests, according to an announcement made by R. B. Borland, president of the Martinez institution.

Borland stated that the transaction was a "hundred percent" transfer. The Bank of Italy acquires what netted the stockholders of the National Bank more than eight percent for the next three years of the bank's existence, all securities, notes and deposits.

For the present the bank will function under its national bank charter and no change will be made in personnel of the bank staff.

The Bank of Italy purchased a majority of the 500 shares which make up the stock.

The Bancitaly has continued to purchase a bank a day this year. Recent purchases include that of the Citizens' National Bank of San Francisco, the First National of Pittsburgh and the Bank of Concord.

Guatemala May Be Mediator for Nicaraguan Revolt

(By Universal Service)
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 22.—The controversy between the government of President Diaz, in Nicaragua, and the cause espoused by Juan Saca, may be settled with Guatemala as mediator, according to a dispatch published in Excelsior today.

Meanwhile, this section of the country views with mingled feelings the rebel warfare and the dispute between the government and the Catholic episcopate.

Reports from the rebel fronts are less frequent. Sixty rebels in the state of Durango have surrendered on offer of amnesty, according to a report from General Escobar. Sixteen small groups of rebels operating near this city have surrendered. Rebel strongholds in the mountains have been bombed by government airmen.

Train Kills Ten Of Texas Hoop Team In Fatal Autobus Crash

No Time to Apply Brakes Say Engineer and Bus Driver; Four Dying

(By Universal Service)
ROUND ROCK, Texas, Jan. 22.—A big motor bus, bound from Waco to Austin with the Baylor University basketball team, was ground to pieces by the Sunshine Special, crack Missouri Pacific flyer here today.

Ten college students were killed outright and four others are dying.

Six other student-players and A. Ralph Wolfe, bus driver, were hurled free of the wreckage and escaped serious injury.

The known dead: JAMES S. WALKER, Gatesville, Tex.; IVAN FOSTER, Taylor, Tex.; W. E. MURRAY, Gatesville, Texas; SAM DILLOW, Fort Worth, Texas; J. CLYDE KELLEY, Waco, Texas; MERLE H. DUDLEY, Abilene, Texas.

The critically injured: Edward Gooch, Ennis, Texas; Fred Acree, Waco, Texas; Joseph Potter, West, Texas; J. G. Barry, Smithville, Texas.

The passenger train was roaring northward when it reached Round Rock. It was not scheduled to stop at the station, but it gave the usual warning whistle for a grade crossing. Then the motor bus loomed up ahead.

Brakes were thrown on but the terrific speed of the train had scarcely slackened when the crash came.

The big motor bus crumpled up like an egg shell and the wreckage hurled through the air. Some of the students saw the onrushing train and attempted to jump. But there was not time.

Girl Assisting Chicago Bandit

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Chicago's new "speed" bandits who operate on a wholesale scale in record-breaking time, were believed by police today to have a girl friend helping them when continuing their holdups. They held up three stores within half an hour.

They started by holding up a tea store and taking the register's cash contents of $20; then they robbed another tea store of $70, and still another store of the same amount.

The managers of each of the stores told police that the two men and the girl, armed with automatic revolvers, walked briskly into their stores, told them to "throw 'em up," took the contents of the cash register, departed hurriedly, leaped into a car and sped away.

Burned Suitcase Of Attack Suspect Found By Officers

Sheriff's deputies yesterday renewed their search for Jesus Moreno who attacked his common-law wife, Felicia Arbones, with a butcher knife a week ago, following the discovery of a suitcase in the Crockett hills which has been identified as the property of the near-slayer.

The suitcase had been partly burned in an attempt to destroy it, and was filled with papers and strands of a woman's hair.

No trace of Moreno has been found since the attack. Deputies believe the evidence uncovered may lead to the assailant's early apprehension. Constable J. J. Fox and Deputy Sheriff J. M. Joseph are investigating the find.

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

We hear a great deal nowadays about our foreign trade. It is the pet hobby of the internationalist, and when congress doesn't do just what he wants, he threatens us with a loss of our foreign trade. First we were told that if we didn't join the League of Nations our foreign trade would suffer; then we were informed that if we didn't cancel the debts which Europe owes us our foreign trade would be wiped out. And of course it has always been a favorite argument of the free trade internationalists that if we maintain a protective tariff we can't have any foreign trade.

Well, we haven't done any of these things which the internationalists have told us to do and yet we still have a pretty healthy foreign trade. Even our importers seem to be doing business at the old stand. And judging from the number of articles of foreign made goods in the retail stores nowadays they have been doing an increasing business.

Of course every good American is in favor of our having a foreign trade. We want to increase it when we can so that our manufacturers and working people will benefit from international trade so far as possible. But the internationalists in seeking to put over their propaganda on us frequently exaggerate the relative importance of our foreign trade. They seem to regard it as something superior because it is found away from home.

Everyone is familiar with the lure which comes from distance. To the budding youth the girls in the next town are always just a little comelier than the ones at home. Often we think the government or the business conditions in the next community seem just a little better than our own. Distance always lends enchantment and this seems to hold good with our internationalists and our foreign trade.

But as a matter of fact our foreign business, important as it is, does not compare in importance with our trade at home. In fact, according to Dr. Julius Klein, director of our bureau of foreign and domestic commerce at Washington, which gathers all the statistics about our business, the American foreign trade, that is, the goods we sell to foreign countries represents less than ten per cent of the transportable goods which we produce in the United States.

Congressman Upshaw says that by ignoring the Volstead act New York has seceded from the union. Maybe that explains why a lot of New Yorkers thought they were voting for Al Smith for president last November.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name you, city on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

WAIT A WEEK OR TWO

When you and I left school we had precious little knowledge of human physiology. Even now your ignorance of physiology and my knowledge of the fundamentals of it has nothing to do with our schooling or education. It is of our own choice, you have preferred other kinds of reading and study; I have found the study of physiology almost as interesting as a bang up murder mystery. The knowledge I have gained in my reading and study is a source of much comfort and contentment to me, aside from my capacity as a health teacher; this knowledge gives me a deal of worry which some folk indulge in. I am hard to sell a good deal which you are very easy to sell.

For instance, fretting and worrying over retarded bowel movement gives many a badly educated person a headache or a feeling of uneasiness which one without knowledge of physiology is prone to attribute to "auto-intoxication." The malaise which often accompanies such a worry or anxiety headache does feel like a lot of waste matter or poison in the blood, poison which, to the mind of one in that condition, has probably been absorbed from the bowel.

Now it is a queer thing that people with a real knowledge of physiology do not get headache or malaise when the bowels fail to move at the usual time, because they don't worry a little bit over such a trifle. And it is worthy of particular note that thoroughly misinformed folks, who take too seriously the explanation of sickness given them by mail order charlatans and illegitimate healers of various cuts, seem to suffer more intensely from such headache and malaise than do the ordinary run of just physiologically ignorant folk, and may figure out for yourself the reason why.

There is not a bit of harm or danger in waiting a week or two if the strike lasts that long, if you forswear physic.

The strike will not last so long unless you waver in your resolution or falter in your faith in the truth of what I am teaching you. If you are first quite convinced about the power of nature to reassert itself when the inhibition or brake is finally released, it will require only two or three days, as a rule, to bring the infestinal function back to a fair semblance of normality. But I repeat, there is not a bit of harm or danger if it takes a week or 10 days.

In urging this view upon you I take it for granted that you are not restricted in your choice of food, that you may have a reasonable variety or selection of fresh vegetables and fresh fruits every day, preferably raw. Any vegetable or fruit you can eat raw is wholesome to take raw, provided it is well washed. And any vegetable or fruit you can eat entirely, skins, seeds, pulp and all, is wholesome, if clean, and particularly desirable in combating the constipation habit.

Now I caution you that the breaking of the constipation habit is not a question of wishing or wanting to be freed from physic slavery, for anybody who uses or rather abuses laxatives or cathartics does not wish for freedom.

except, benighted souls who imagine such remedies "purify" the blood." In order to master this depraved and depraving dependence on artificial aids one must have the assurance which comes from knowledge of physiology, confidence in the ability of nature to take care of the function of defecation just as nature takes care of the function of circulation or breathing if not interfered with, and the determination to stick it out, once one has made the resolution, whether readjustment takes three days or three weeks.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Government Pamphlets

Please give me the name of the two other books besides "Prenatal Care," published by the government, also what department at Washington I should write for them (Mrs. B. F. B.). Answer—You probably want the excellent little pamphlets by Mrs. Max West, issued by the children's bureau of the labor department, and obtainable from the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C., at 5 per copy for "Prenatal Care," 10 cents per copy for "Infant Care" and 10 cents per copy for "Child Care."

Canker Sores

My own experience with canker sores agrees with that of your reader, Mrs. C. V. For some time I have found oranges a cure, if I eat two or three a day when cankers come, and then one or two just occasionally after that. (Mrs. H. W. W.)

Skating

Is ice skating too strenuous a sport for one with heart trouble? (S. L. F.)

Answer—It may be very beneficial for one with heart trouble, but of course the patient's own physician should advise whether any exercise is to be taken and if so how much. In some cases or at some stage in the treatment graduated exercise is one of the best remedies for heart disease, contrary to the popular prejudice.

Whiskey

Is whiskey good for T. B. if taken in the manner of medicine? Also is skimmed milk or buttermilk better than plain milk for the same case? (D. S.)

Answer—Whiskey is certainly bad for T. B., whether it is taken as medicine or as poison. Skimmed milk and buttermilk are about the same nutritive value, which is just half that of whole or sweet milk.

KI and Sodium Iodid

Please tell me what difference there is in the effect of iodide of sodium and iodide of potash. (Mrs. S. J.)

Answer—Sodium iodide and potassium iodide are practically the same in effect.

EDUCATION BY MAIL
An article on correspondence school instruction seems to have been very timely. In warning my readers to be on guard against those correspondence schools which promise much and deliver little I have already raved some ambitious readers a heartache and a fast pocketbook.

I did not start this war against the fake correspondence schools. It seems that the Federal Trade Commission had been warned a number of them to stop their practice or else get out of business. Already through my comment, number of questionable schools have "got religion" and are taking their first step toward rectification. I am glad to see the business bureau is putting forth a serious campaign to clean up the advertising in the correspondence schools. I don't forget to tell those who have failed to live up to their contracts.

It is too long a story to get into this limited space. If you are interested, ask for instruction booklet "How to Analyze Correspondence Schools." Don't forget to enclose a stamped return envelope with the clipping.

The Marriage Game

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hutton

THE FAMILY DEBATE

MRS.—I wonder what satisfaction Martin Engley got out of the interminable railroad and steamship travel in which they indulge themselves every year. Of course, they have a little money and they had no kin to leave their wealth to when they die, but Hannah seems such a home-loving soul I wonder she does not insist upon her husband putting the money they waste on travel into a substantial home, for Martin has been in the same service twenty years and will be there twenty more. The autumn trip to Bermuda is just a jolly little picnic to them. The summer tour of northern France is just as jolly little excursion to them. When they paid twenty-five dollars a day for a room in one of the big Florida hotels last winter, they thought it a cunning good investment, although Hannah spent virtually all her time in the gold and onyx library of the hotel, addressing picture postcards to everybody she ever heard of. Her post card bill alone must have been twenty-five dollars a day. She seems to revel in the menu of the transatlantic liners dining saloon and she stuffs her pretty mouth with rice curry with her fingers in Bombay, because that's the thing Yankee slummers do and they come home wilted, worn and weary and I guess they have to have a little talk with the bank folks. Now, why do you—

SYNOPSIS
Ballard rises from poverty to inherit a fortune. He loves Viola Ruskin, but through a chance she marries Phil Hardin, his old enemy, now President of a powerful railroad and tool in the hands of Jordan, mon king. Their greed causes a grave accident. John grins purposes jail for the responsible officials. Phil learns that his wife loves John. Infuriated, he goes to John and attempts to murder him. A counterblow of revelation of a college brawl, in which John supposedly killed a man to save Phil's life.

CHAPTER X—Continued
For a long moment John Ballard was still. He looked at Phil gravely, curiously, as a man coming suddenly upon a loathsome reptile in a jungle path might stare at it. "Ah!" he said, finally. "That's what you are talking about, is it? I might have known. Somehow, though, I didn't realize that you had sunk quite so low. So—Jordan got that out of you, did he?" "I told him—yes. Why not?" "No reason—you being what you are. But—just how do you expect this to serve you and our friends?" "I guess the high and mighty district attorney of Ventura County doesn't want to have to go back to Newton and stand trial for murder!"

"You're quite right. He doesn't. Nor will he. Whatever may have happened in that place that night it wasn't murder." "That's for a jury to say, isn't it?" "Possibly. That remains to be seen. Phil, do you remember the circumstances—that when I swung that chair it was the only weapon I could use to save your life?" "I remember that that's what you said—yes. That doesn't make it true. And, anyway, it's not a question of what I believe, but of what happened and what you can prove—if you come to trial."

"Faster! Just what do you and your master, Jordan, propose?" "We want you to call off this grand jury inquiry."

"Suppose I say I can't—that it has gone too far already. That John Ballard, when Phil had gone, sat, deeply thoughtful. The destruction of the last vestige of his old affection for Phil did not trouble him greatly. Phil, after all, had shown himself in his true colors too often in the past. What concerned him far more was what Phil had said of Viola. That was utterly baffling and mysterious. He was almost as if he must have told Phil that she loved him. John Ballard—and that was unthinkable.

His day had been well spent. There was no doubt whatever in his mind that he had ample evidence to secure the indictment of the responsible heads of the N. and C. V. R. R. There had been culpable criminal negligence. The operating heads had been repeatedly warned of the dangerous condition of the roadbed and the rolling stock, and he had witnessed to indict, though, and to court were two entirely different things, and none knew it better than John Ballard. There would be a tremendous legal battle, that was sure, but he would have to devote precious time that he could ill afford to defending himself, then because it was dangerous. It seemed to him unlikely in the extreme that anything really dangerous could come of that old business.

The case must be prepared with the utmost care; nothing must be left to chance. Phil's threat, made just now, angered him more because it might mean that he would have to devote precious time that he could ill afford to defending himself, then because it was dangerous. It seemed to him unlikely in the extreme that anything really dangerous could come of that old business.

Yet he regretted bitterly that he had not as a boy done the right thing. He should have gone to once to the authorities, and what had happened demanded an investigation and taken the consequences. They could not, he knew now, have been very serious. He could almost smile as he looked back upon the waste he had been thrown into at the time. No use in thinking along those lines now, though.

His own folly and weakness years ago had betrayed him, but put a weapon now in the hands of his enemies. Well—let them use it. The main issue, it seemed to him, would not be affected. They might ruin him—they could not save themselves, since he had refused to be coerced.

Jordan, listening in his hotel room late that night to Phil's report, frowned. "God!" he said. "I wish we'd got that man when I wanted him, ten years ago. I knew then we needed him—that it was a risky thing to let him be outside the fence! He's a man that follows."

"Well, but this business will spike his guns, won't it?" said Phil. "I don't know," said Jordan. "I'm darned if I do. He's like Samson—he can bring the walls down about our heads. No, Phil—there's no use in blinking the facts. We're up against it. I wish I knew how we were going to handle it."

"They're after that evidence, aren't they?" "Yes. It's our best bet after all. That is—oh, the devil—the story as you tell it's no good! No jury would convict him of any crime for swinging a chair to defend himself or his friend. But—that must have been a hard gang. If we can find that man actually was killed and get a couple of witnesses to swear that Ballard had some motive for killing him—then we might as well be nowhere."

THIS SACRILEGIOUS DESTRUCTION OF THEIR DIETIES AROUSED THE AZTECS TO UNEXAMPLED FURY AND AS THE SPANARDS DESCENDED FROM THE PYRAMID THEY TOOK THE CHRISTIANS BY SURPRISE, DROVE THEM FROM THE COURTYARD INTO THE SQUARE WHERE FRESH AZTEC TROOPS FIERCELY ASSAULTED THEM. THUS CAUGHT BETWEEN TWO FIRES THE SPANARDS BECAME PANIC-STRIKEN, THEIR RANKS WERE BROKEN AND THEY WERE HOPELESSLY SCATTERED EACH FLYING FOR HIS LIFE AMONG HIS ENEMIES. A GENERAL BODY OF THE SPANARDS FOLLOWED AND A THREATENED DISASTER LOOMED. THE OPPORTUNE ARRIVAL OF A SMALL BODY OF HORSEMEN TURNED THE TIDE. THE AZTECS FAILED TO REALIZE THE INSIGNIFICANT NUMBER AND VALUE OF THE HORSES AND, BELIEVING A LARGE BODY OF CAVALRY WAS UPON THEM, ABANDONED THEIR VIGOROUS ONSLAUGHT WHICH, IF THEY HAD PRESSED IT, WOULD HAVE GIVEN THEM A TREMENDOUS VICTORY OVER THE SPANARDS. THE LONG DAY WAS DRAWING TO A CLOSE AND CORTES ORDERED A RETREAT WHICH WAS EFFECTED IN GOOD ORDER.

QUAKTEMOTZIN WAS NOW THE VICTIM OF THE BLACKEST KIND OF TREASON. MANY OF THE TRIBES WHICH HAD CAST IN THEIR LOT WITH HIM WERE ASSIGNED PLACES IN THE DEFENSE OF THE CITY. WHEN THE FIGHTING BEGAN THESE ALLIES MADE A PRETEXT OF ATTACKING THE SPANARDS WITH WHOM THEY HAD SECRETLY MADE AN ALLIANCE. THEN SUDDENLY TURNED THEIR ARMS AGAINST THE MEXICANS WHO WERE COMPLETELY TAKEN BY SURPRISE. THEIR CHIEF RALLIED QUICKLY, HOWEVER, AND BRINGING UP FRESH TROOPS, THE TRAITORS WERE SOON SEVERELY PUNISHED, LEAVING MANY DEAD AND PRISONERS. THE REMAINDER FLED THE CITY AND JOINED THE SPANARDS. FOR THIS UNPARALLELED ACT, FOUR OF THE PRINCIPAL TRAITORS WERE DECAPITATED BY AN AZTEC CHIEF WITH HIS OWN HAND AND THE OTHERS ORDERED TO BE SACRIFICED TO THE GODS. THE SPANARDS NOW SUCCEEDED IN CUTTING OFF ALL SUPPLIES OF FRESH WATER AND FOOD FROM THE CITY, AND FROM THEN ON HUNGER WAS ADDED TO THE HORRORS OF THE SIEGE, WHILE THE SPANISH CAMP WAS AMPLY SUPPLIED.

DAINTY MISSES HEAD BILL AT THE CALIFORNIA

A great bill of five acts of West Coast Theaters, Inc., vaudeville comes to the California Theater today, in conjunction with the screen feature "Sweet Rosie O'Grady," featuring Shirley Mason.

Four dainty misses with a prettily arranged singing routine billed as "The Harmony Four" will start the ball rolling. These young ladies have included in their repertoire a number of the old favorites as well as some of the more popular songs of the day.

The premier banjoists of America are George and Ray Perry, musicians who are peppy and talented. Their routine of southern melodies is offered in a truly likeable fashion and their jazzier tunes of the day set the foot tapping in no uncertain measure.

Two pretty girls skilful acrobatic and ballet and hard shoe dancers are the Gibson Girls. Daintily costumed and good to look at the girls are really clever terpsichorean artists. Their solo and duo numbers are a joy to behold.

Charles Wells the young eastern performer who specializes in imitations and whistling bits is a big time artist with a bunch of novelty stunts that are sure to please. His is an entertaining specialty.

Roping, dancing, whiplacking and some smart quips are presented by the versatile Jack Cavanaugh. His offering is well worth while and holds interest throughout.

ON THE SCREEN
"Sweet Rosie O'Grady," of lasting memory as a song, has now been immortalized on the screen. This picture which will be shown today at the California Theater, is a Columbia production, made by Director Frank R. Strayer from a story by Harry O. Hoyt and based on the old Maude Nugent song.

The characterizing feature of the picture apart from the fascinating romance between the little east side heroine and the youth from Fifth Avenue posing as a chauffeur to win the love of Rosie, is the Jewish-Irish angle which has been hit on by the author, Harry O. Hoyt, and which lends a shade of the same color that distinguishes "Abie's Irish Rose."

Shirley Mason, the tiny, talented screen star, one of the most charming sweethearts of the films, plays the title role in her own inimitable manner. Cullen Landis, handsome and popular juvenile man, is picturesque as the lover, and romantically satisfying. E. Alyn Warren, Lester Bernard, and Otto Lederer are three unsurpassed Jewish types who sustain the comedy vein of the picture, even while director Frank Strayer angles successfully for tears.

Other features on the same program include "The Radio Bug," a comedy scream; "Kinograms," a world news events; Weigle's Californians, and Larry Canelo at the organ.

BLANCHE SWEET IS FEATURED IN 'DIPLOMACY'

Arlette Marchal, the vivacious French girl selected to play the part of "Zicka" in Marshall Neilan's production, "Diplomacy," was called on to corral all her histrionic talent for the intense scenes in Victorian Sardou's drama.

When last presented on the New York stage, "Diplomacy," boasted a cast that has seldom been equaled. Blanche Bates it was who played the part Miss Marchal has created for the screen.

Never in her entire cinema career, dating back five years and beginning in Paris, has Miss Marchal been given such a role.

Arlette is best remembered for her brilliant portrayal in "Madame Sans Gene."

Since coming to the United States as a member of the Paramount stock company, she has appeared in two productions—supporting Betty Bronson in "The Cat's Pajamas," and in "Born to the West."

"Zicka" should do much toward placing Miss Marchal among the screen's great actresses.

Blanche Sweet is featured in "Diplomacy," which Neilan made for Paramount. Others in the cast are Neil Hamilton, Matt Moore, Earle Williams, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Julia Swayne Gordon, Arthur Carew and David Mir. It arrives at the Richmond Theater today.

Other features on the same program include "Who Hit Me," an Al St. John comedy, and "Kinograms" world news events.

BIRTHS LEAD DEATHS BY BIG MARGIN HERE

Statistics released yesterday by Commissioner of Health Dr.
Charles R. Blake, show that there were 388 births in Richmond to 202 deaths recorded during 1926.
There were 197 boys born in comparison to 191 girls.

The annual report estimates the population of Richmond as 28,000, and deducts from that the birth rate per 1000 persons was 13.85, and the death rate 5.42.
During the past five years the births recorded showed: 388 babies born in 1926, 389 in 1925, 363 for 1924, 332 in 1923, and 288 in 1922. Deaths during this time amounted to 202 in 1926, 152 in 1925, 150 in 1924, 146 in 1923, and 149 for 1922.

A coroner's inquest was held into sixty-seven cases. Resident deaths by accident were divided into: Railroad, 1; automobile, 1; asphyxiation, 3; burns, 1; drowning, 11; explosion, 4; fractured skull, 2; gunshot wounds, 4; strangulation, 1; suffocation, 1; suicides, 6. Three persons died of meningitis, three from influenza, 30 of pneumonia and one from smallpox.

Sixty persons over 60 years of age died, and 20 babies under one year of age passed away.

There were 264 communicable diseases reported as compared with 136 in 1925. Quarantine was called for on 138 homes on account of scarlet fever, 16 for small pox, and 7 on account of diphtheria.

Boulevard Stop Signs Are Tested

Two types of boulevard stop signs were installed in Richmond yesterday morning for the first time. One type is a low apparatus placed in the center of the street, and the other is a parking sign, seven feet above the curb.

It is thought that tests being conducted will determine the relative efficiency of each sign.
Observations taken yesterday showed that Richmond drivers heeded stop signs.

The Stories of and in the Bible

By Shailer Mathews

THE STORY OF THE CHIEF MANUSCRIPTS OF THE BIBLE

There were books before there were printing presses. And plenty of them. "Of the making of books," says the weary writer of Ecclesi-astes, "there is no end." In Babylon men wrote on clay and baked it. We have many such books preserved for us in the ancient

Libraries men have excavated.
In the Roman Empire books were cheap. But of course they were not printed.
The ancient world seems to have almost discovered type, for you can still see the names of householders

raised on the lead water pipes in Pompeii. But slavery was a hindrance to invention and books were written by hand, not printed. A publisher would have a book dictated to a roomful of slaves who would write it down and thus produce an edition.

It was before the pulp mills and paper making. There was a material which was used in the preparation of more expensive books, known as papyrus. It was the leaves of a plant of that name and much resembles paper.
In fact, our word paper comes from papyrus. Books written both on parchment and papyrus were made in long strips sometimes yards in length which were rolled up so that when one read one unrolled a column rather than turned a page. We have found copies of books written on papyrus in some of the ruins in Herculaneum and also in the dust heaps of Egypt where they have been preserved because the climate is so dry. Books were also written on vellum (a fine leather made from sheepskin) or parchment (made from sheepskin).

When Christianity became the dominant religion in the Roman Empire, its sacred books, which had largely been circulating as independent rolls, were copied on to parchment, and often written on pages rather than on rolls.
Some of these manuscripts you can see in the libraries of Europe, but they are in other places as well.

There would undoubtedly have been many ancient manuscripts preserved if the world had not passed through so many hundred years of violence. The German and Hun barbarians ravaged the west of Europe, and the Arabs the east. What happened in Louvain in 1914 happened all over Europe and the Near East, in the Dark Ages. There were great libraries in many of the cities of the Roman Empire. All of them were destroyed except a few which were in monasteries. The Mohammedan Arabs were just as destructive in the east as the barbarians were in the west. Their point of view was shown in a story as to what happened when they captured Alexandria, a city as large as Chicago. There was an enormous library there containing hundreds of thousands of volumes. The Mohammedan leader declared that if what those books said were true, it was all in the Koran, and if they contained anything which was not in the Koran it could not be true. In any case, therefore, the books were not needed, so they were destroyed!

In the little town of Nablus at the foot of Mt. Ephraim in Palestine is a group of Samaritans who are descendants of the Jews and of the colonists which the great conqueror Nebuchadnezzar settled there after he had deported the more prosperous citizens. They have a priest, who claims to be a descendant of Aaron the brother of Moses, and a synagogue. Every year they go up to the top of Mt. Gerizim at the time of the passover and sacrifice sheep. The most interesting thing in this strange little group of people is the fact that they possess a manuscript of the five books of Moses, written in the Samaritan alphabet in which the letters are somewhat different from those used in the Hebrew Bible. All visitors at Nablus go to this little synagogue where the high priest or his representative will courteously show a manuscript purporting to have been written by the grandson of Aaron.
Generally the manuscript first shown is not the most ancient one which they possess. That will be shown only after proper inducement has been suggested.

The manuscript is ancient, but it certainly was not written before the twelfth century A. D. It probably was copied from older manuscripts which have now disappeared. Yet even as it is, the manuscript carries us back to the time of the crusades.

The oldest manuscript of the entire Old Testament which is in existence is in Petrograd. It is dated 1009 A. D. In a synagogue at Cairo is a roll of the prophets, said to have been written in 895
A. D. This is the oldest Hebrew manuscript of any portion of the Bible that we have, although we have manuscripts written in Greek east. What happened in Louvain

LOMSKI GETS DECISION OVER TIGER FLOWERS

(By Universal Service.)
By MARK KELLY

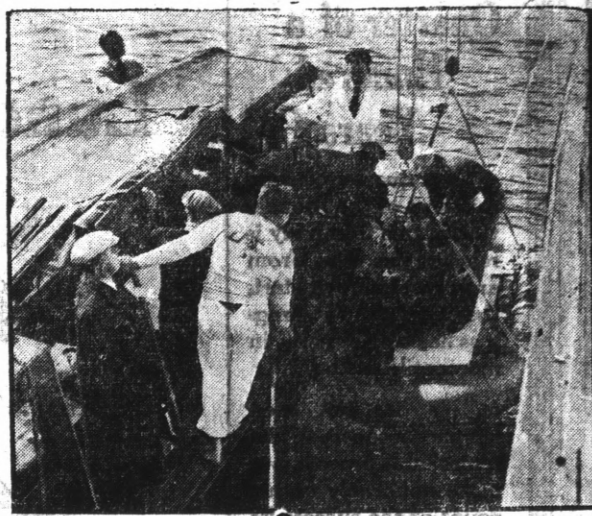

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—Standing up under a stiff punch bombardment in the early rounds, Leo Lomski, Aberdeen middleweight, put the season's largest dent in the dope bucket when after ten furious rounds he was declared a winner over Tiger "Deacon" Flowers, recently uncrowned middleweight champion of Atlanta, Georgia.

It was a close fight—so nip and tuck that a rematch would prove a smart venture on any promoter's part. Lomski won solely on that tenth round finish. But the paving stone to his victory was a solid right hand smash that he landed to Flowers' stomach midway in the seventh round. That wallop went home with the full body power of a punch behind it and caught Flowers coming in with his guard raised.

The grunt that Flowers emitted could have been heard out in the bleachers. He hugged Lomski, wrapped his long arms about him and held him in a clinch until part of his breath was back. But from that point on he fought a retreating fight with Lomski the aggressor right through to the final bell. Flowers scored a knockdown in the third round when he caught Lomski off balance going out of a clinch.

Flowers' lopped home one of those swinging left hooks and it caught the Aberdeen boy on his whiskers. He flopped to one knee but jumped up so swiftly and tore back into battle so vigorously that to many it looked like a slip. It was a clean knockdown. Several times Flowers' was on his heels and groggy but each time Lomski's frantic efforts to press his advantage made him wild and Flowers would bob, duck and weave out of danger.

FOOTBALL

Brick Muller's professional football team and George Wilson's Wildcats will tangle at Ewing field in San Francisco today. Both teams are awaiting the fray which should prove of much interest. "Tut" Imlay will play quarterback on the Muller team.

HIGH CAGERS WIN CONTEST FROM LOWELL

Internal strife among the ranks subdued, and the team at a fighting pitch, the Richmond Union high school basketball squad walked over the strong Lowell high school of San Francisco yesterday by a score of 36 to 28 in one of the poppiest exhibitions of basketball yet shown this year by the local squad.

In the preliminary game, the local midjet team lost a close decision by a score of 26 to 22 after an extra three minute period.

The unlimited squad showed a keen eye for baskets. This game saw the return of Jimmie Hoskings to the ranks and Jimmy, although he only made five points, broke up some pretty plays of the transbay team.

Howman, a forward and Boldwin, center, were high men for the local team with ten points each. Cronert started for the losers with 16 points.

In the midjet game, Crosetti with 8 points was high man for the Lowell squad and Sac Gordon with 10 was high man for the local team.

At the end of the fourth quarter in this game the score stood 22 to 22 and in the extra three minutes the Lowell team shot two baskets.

Coach Ivan Hill sent in every one of his subs in an effort to stem the tide but the Lowell team was too good.

Attractive Sport Cabriolet Is Announced

The new Chevrolet Sport Cabriolet is a snappy, convertible car with rumble seat, added to the line on January 1, 1927. An circle: Replacing the back curtain after using the rumble seat. It is so easy a woman may snap on the four catches without removing her gloves. Below: Showing how passengers may carry on conversation between front and rear seats; also shows the roomy arrangement of rear compartment.

The new Chevrolet Sport Cabriolet is being shown in Richmond for the first time by the Harry G. Golden company, exclusive Chevrolet dealers in this city. This model is a snappy, streamlined four passenger car with a rumble seat, added to the line on January 1, 1927.

It is upholstered in genuine leather and is finely finished in Du Pont Duco. While a de luxe model in every particular it is made to stand the wear and tear of every day driving. The body is "custom built" by the Fisher body company in the east.

The rear compartment is exceedingly roomy and a detachable rear curtain makes conversation between rear and front seats possible.

The Cabriolet is not a European model in any respect despite its name. European cars cannot be compared by the standard of efficiency and price set by American-built machines. The new Cabriolet is representative of the best quality put into cars by painstaking American manufacturers.

Airplane Parachute Inventor is Honored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—For developing the airplane parachute, Major Edward I. Hoffman, of the army air corps wins the 1926 Collier trophy, the National Aeronautic association announced today.

The trophy is presented each year "for the greatest achievement in aviation in America, the value of which has been demonstrated by actual use during the preceding year."

Major Hoffman was directly responsible for the perfection of the airplane parachute and now universally used in this country and abroad, the association stated.

Some of Charley's Trouble to End

(By Universal Service.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Ex-trickster of Charlie Chaplin, film comedian, from at least part of the growing tangle surrounding his financial affairs, was foreshadowed today.

Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue Charles R. Nash announced that Chaplin's New York attorneys are expected here for a conference Monday. They are expected to arrange for posting a bond which will free the New York properties of the comedian and his film company from the government's $1,500,000 tax liens.

This prospective victory for the screen celebrity was accompanied by a setback for Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, his wife, who is suing him for divorce and alimony.

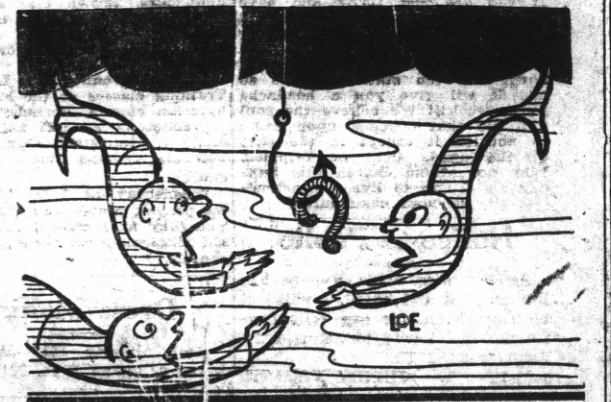

An official refusal to permit her to collect $14,400 temporary alimony and court costs, before the government's liens were dissolved, was wired by the commissioner of internal revenue.

GREAT WALTER

The Great Walter Mails is ready for the 1927 season, he announced yesterday. The Great Walter is getting a trifle fat and has decided to go on a diet of lamb chops and pineapples. Walter reports that he has lost fifteen pounds. He will talk terms with the Seal magnates early next month.

New York City uses the long distance telephone lines much more frequently and over greater spaces than any other city in the world.

Will Enjoy a Happy New Year Blood Test Shows Negative

Dec. 28, 1926.

At the beginning of last summer my blood test showed two positives; that is two "X's". It had previously been four "X's" (positives).

After I failed to get relief by treatments of hypodermic shots I decided to give the Fong Wan Herbs a trial. I drank the herbs for only one month. Nevertheless when I had a blood test taken again on Dec. 24, 1926, the test showed negative. So my blood is thoroughly cleansed and is O. K. at last. I shall certainly enjoy a Happy New Year. Because of my gratitude for the Fong Wan Herbs Treatment, I am glad to give this testimonial.

PARK PROGRAM IS PROGRESSING SAYS MILLER

John A. Miller, chairman of the city park and playground commission, announced yesterday that improvement and completion of parks in Richmond were being made as speedily as possible.

In the South Richmond park and playground trees have been planted and shrubbery placed. The Pullman playground will be graveled and apparatus installed in a short time.

Lighting of Memorial park is planned by the commission to take care of the numerous band concerts and events which will be held during the summer months.

The 18-acre Nicholl park is being improved and will be opened to the public as soon as grass and shrubbery has grown enough to permit of public use. Grading and improvement of Washington park in the West side are anticipated by A. Tcherassy, city superintendent of parks and City Engineer E. A. Hoffman.

She's In Again

(By Pacific & Atlantic)

Two weeks after being released from the state prison at Walla, Wash., where she served six months for larceny, Ethel Dow (above) 24, former University of Washington student, was arrested again at Portland, Ore., for shoplifting. Mrs. Dow, while a student, systematically swindled Seattle stores with fictitious accounts. Detectives at Portland found her room filled with loot from many stores. She is the daughter of Lorenzo Dow, Tacoma, Wash., lawyer and former member of the Washington legislature.

PEERLESS CAR MEETING WITH APPROVAL HERE

Wright and Madera, local Peerless agents, report that since the opening of their new salesrooms last Saturday, many Richmond people have examined the new models of Peerless cars being shown by the firm, and have expressed satisfaction, regarding the quality and price.

The Peerless dealers have no doubt that Richmond will find the car has everything that is claimed for it. They state that in no other car can there be found the high quality work and expensive motor that are ordinarily associated with models beyond the reach of the ordinary man. They believe that the name of the machine speaks for itself.

Car's Life Depends On Service Given Says Local Dealer

"The thousands who attend automobile shows all over the country this month will not see on exhibition one of the most vital factors in the satisfaction and service that the owner will get from the new car he buys," says J. P. Strom, Willys-Knight dealer.

"The new cars are built to deliver to the original owner more mileage than has been heretofore gotten out of a new car. But the length of the car's life and the measure of its dependability will continue, as in the past, to rest largely with the local dealer who sells it.

"A closer cooperation of the dealer with the owner is necessary, and a more complete and comprehensive responsibility of the dealer for satisfaction in ownership will be needed by those who buy cars in 1927.

"Dealers who exist to merely sell cars rather than to sell all the essentials of good automobile transportation will soon be as obsolete as a 1915 model."

Speed Records Badly Splashed

World's speed records for 151 hydroplanes were shattered, or badly splashed, when "Angeles I" clipped the surf at better than 60 miles per hour at the present Newport Bay Time Trials of the Pacific Hydroplane Association. This speed boat, piloted by Ralph Snoddy, was the only entry using K.C. field gasoline. It was powered by a 4-cylinder Miller Motor.

When Harry Miller starts in to do a thing he does it up brown, as all will testify who saw the Angeles I, a 151 Class hydroplane with a specially designed four cylinder Harry Miller engine powered with Richfield gasoline, crack every existing straightaway record for boats of this class in the recent time trials held by the Pacific Hydroplane association at Newport Bay. Miller may be new in the speedboat game but he is certainly coming along.

Angeles I covered six officially timed miles on the course at an average speed of 60.11 miles per hour, exceeding the best previous record by 17 miles per hour. Her first mile was clocked at 1:07, an amazing new speed. Her second mile showed 1:12 and the third was made at the breath-taking speed of a mile a minute. The remaining three miles were covered in 1:01, 1:02 and 1:04 respectively.

The only entry using Richfield gasoline, Angeles' record was 20 miles an hour better than any of the competing boats which comprised a field of the fastest Class 151 hydroplanes on the Pacific coast. Held under the auspices of the Newport Harbor Yacht club and the California Yacht club, all boats were timed by an electric system and stop watches were held by Dr. J. Park Dougall of the California Yacht club, representing the Pacific Hydroplane association, Verne Walker and Dick Loynes of the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

Ralph Snoddy, who piloted the Angeles I believes that she is capable of even greater speed than that developed at Newport Bay Sunday. And Snoddy knows whereof he speaks because he was thrown into the water in making a turn during a burst of speed in the handicap race immediately following the record breaking runs. Fortunately both pilot and boat were rescued without damage to either.

Harry Miller, the builder of Angeles I has won fame and fortune as a designer of racing cars and his motors today hold many of the world's existing speed records. He is the man who several years ago astonished the motoring world by producing a new type of racing car that proved itself on the speedway the superior of the best American and European mounts; he has pioneered with many of the most important improvements in racing motors and stands today as one of the foremost figures in the world of motor designing.

Miller uses and recommends Richfield gasoline for all his engines including his own personal cars because he has found that it delivers the maximum amount of speed and power at all times.
